THE ARMY EQUIPAGE.

Their Shipment From Frankfort to London Has Been Stopped.

The Removal of the Arsenal Equipment Was the Subject of a Red-Not Resolution Being Introduced in the Senate.

London, Kv., March 4.-Two full car loads of army equipage, including small arms, two Gatling guns, five e unons and large quantity of ammunition of all kinds, arrived here lre d to Col. Roger Williams. Capt. state guards, is in charge of the war implements, and has a strong guard over them. The meaning of this move s not generally understood here.

Frankfort, Av., March 6 .- Shipment of the gun and ammunition of war to London contined Monday. Car-lead of small arm and other equipments was shipped Monday morning. The tatlur gin and other arms in use by the soldiers on the state house square are of course still here.

Frankfort, Ky., March 6.-ln the democratic senate Monday Senator Bell introduced a bill which is aimed at Republican Gov. Taylor and republican minor state otherals. The bill provides that any state officer who shall forcibly held possession of the office for a larger period than five days after the legislature or state contest board shall have declared another person legally elected, shall be guilty of felony.

There was more war talk in the democratic senate Monday. Senator Triplett. anti-Goebel democrat, offered a resolution to investigate the truth of published reports concerning hipment of state guns and military paraphanalia to London by Republican Gov. Taylor, and to demand the return of same to the state arsenal. If the reports are found to be true and return of them is refused, the committee appointed to make the investigation shall then bring in a bill making an appropriation of $250,000 to buy new guns and also authorizing Gen. John B. Castleman to issue a call for a sufficient number of volunteers to take the guns from those now in possession of them and return them to the arsenal Frankfort, Ky., March 6.-The orders for shipment of guns and ammunition from the state arsenal to London, Ky., by the republican state anthorities was revoked, and a car loaded with munitions of war consigned to London was usloaded and its contents returned to the arsenal here. The oficials give no reason for the change of programme. The soldiers, acting under orders, worked all forenorn hading the ear. There is a report that the war department at We hirgt n interfered and has orclered the guns and ammunition taken o Lor lon to le returned here.

Frankfort, Ky., March 7.- A crowd which packed the Franklin county circuit court room to its doors gathered Tue, lay morning to hear the exan ning trial of Harlan Whittaker, the Batler county farm hand, who is suspected of being implicated in the murder of State Senator William Goebel. A number of prominent ladies were present. Before the hearing begun the charge, on request of the county attorney, was changed from malicious shooting to murder. Whit taker was nervous and ill at ease when brought into the room. Thirteen witnesses, all sammoned by the commonwealth, were called. The first witnesses sworn were men who had peen concerned in the arrest of Whittaker on the morning of the assassination. These witnesses were John A. Miles, A. Miller, Detective Arm-Luliceman Thompson. Arms rong and Harrod swore that Whittaker had contradicted himself in stating his whereabouts on the capitol square at the moment the fatal shots were fired.

until 2 p. m. The last witness cailed during the foreuoon was Charles Howard, a farmer, who said Whittaker told him a week before the shooting he had come to Frankfort to protect Gov. Taylor's life. Howard declared that just after Goebel fell lie saw one of the Philpots and two of the Howpres, Berry and Jim, members of well known mountain families, in the door of the executive building, heavily arm. spread of the disease, whatever it ed. He said that he was deputed by the sheriff to goard the capitol grounds, but was ordered away by the commanding officer when the troops arrived. None of the witnesses for the defen were named during the morning. It was believed Whittaker's attorn yell da surpri. in store for the other side.

At 12:20 o'clock court adjourned

Wing te Thompson, the policeman who took Whittaker to jail, said on the way the prisoner cried out in fear: "Don't I t them mob me and i'll tell all I l new about it; but a didn't shoot

SECRETARY ROUT'S IIISSION.

The Havana Newspapers Indulge in Much Speculation Over Ilia Visit to That City.

Havana, March 8.—The local papers ndulge in much speculation as to the eason for the visit of Sceretary Root, out almost without exception they say that Mr. Root is welcome and that they hope he will not only enjoy the experience, but that he will learn more about the Cuban people than he ever could by reading newspaper dispatches and opinions, which give such varying opinions that no man can tell what to believe.

One journal says: "Secretary Root is less liable than some others to be at Red Ash Coal & Coke Co.'s mines over the L. & N. from Frankfort, ad- led astray by easual talk, for the people with whom he is most likely to county, thirty miles west of this place. SMALLPOX IN MISSISSIPPI.

Nearly One Hundred Deaths Have Occurred From the Disease in One Small Neighborhood.

Jackson, Miss., March 8 .- An official report made to the Hinds county board of supervisors reveals an appalling state of affairs in the Jonesville neighborhood, in the southern part of the county. The community is literally honeycombed with smallpox of the most virulent and loathsome form, and during the past six weeks nearly 100 deaths have occurred. On some days the deaths were so large that it was impossible to seeure coffins and rude caskets were made from rails. Whole families have been wiped out of existence, and of several large families only one or two children are left.

Many of the patients who are now in a critical condition are without medical attention and dying at the rate of from three to live per day. The death rate exceeds 75 per cent., and the entire lower portion of the eounty is demoralized. Thirty-Four Dead Bodies Taken Out of a West Virginia Shaft.

It ls Believed That There Are Still Thirty-Nine Miners Entombed, With No Possible Prospects of Any Being Allve.

Hinton, W. Va., March 7.-The most terrific and disastrous explosions that has ever occurred in this section occurred Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock at Red Ash, opposite Echo, Fayette The loss of life is appalling.

The cause of the explosion is unknown, but supposed to have been eaused by a miner entering an unused room in the mines with an open lamp. Fire Creek, W. Va., March &.-The hard at Red Ash mine in removing debris and securing the bodies of the victims of the explosion of Tuesday. It is still impossible to give the exact number of the victims or to identify all of the bodies that have been recovered. The most conscrvative estimate of some of those connected with the mine places the number of killed at 40, and there are others who insist that the number of victims will be found to reach twice that many.

Thirty-four bodies have been rescued, 29 being dead and five seriously Downey, John L. Day, Joseph Elliott, John Kane and Harry Dawson. While the surviving miners and others estimate that there are at least 39 miners still entombed, General Manager Howell says there were still in the mine only 36. The estimate of the latter would indicate that there were 70 killed and five injured, as it is conceded that all those still in the mine are dead.

It will probably require two days to get them out, as the gas is so strong little blaze spread with astonishing men ean work but a few minutes at a time. There are 15 mules in the mine, and six have been found alive, but there are no hopes of any of the men being taken out alive. The odor of the gas from the mouth of the mine can be smelled for three miles. No mines are running near by, and the cxcitement is increasing.

No definite eause for the explosion has yet been learned by Gov. Atkinson, the state and district mine inspectors and others who are interested in the ease. In addition to the theories of dust, fire damp, etc., it was elaimed that natural gas had escaped into the mine and that it ignited when the miners entered with their lamps.

THE CELESTIAL EMPIRE.

Likely to Cause a Civil War in That Country.

Victoria, B. C., March 8.—According to Asiatie advices by the steamer Empress of India the recent coup d'etat of the empress downger of China, in which the emperor, Kwang Su, was dethroned and the 6-year-old son of Prince Tuan named as his successor. bids fair to embroil the Celestial empire in a civil war. At Swatow the Chinese are already in revolt, and in many other parts of the empire they are taking up arms against the empress and the Manchus. The reform party, which is at the head of the movement to foment rebellion, is in receipt of a telegram from Kang Yu Wei, sent from Singapore, in which he says he can raise an army of 40,000.

The China Gazette says the empress dowager and her advisers, being afraid of a revolution in Pekin, have applied to the Russian government for help. rescuing parties continue working and that the Japanese government has promised.

A CONFLAGRATION.

Fire in the Retail Dry Goods District of Philadelphia Destroyed About $700,000 Worth of Property.

Philadelphia, March S.-A fire, entailing an estimated loss of over $700,injured. Those rescued alive are Carl 000, occurred early Wednesday in the retail dry goods district. The conflagration originated in the engine room of Shoneman Bros.' dry goods and millinery store, at Eighth and Arch streets. The building was Tshaped, fronting on three streets. Eighth, Arch and Cherry. The engine room was in the basement at the center of the structure. It is said that while the fire was being drawn from the furnaces, sparks communieated with some waste paper, and the rapidly to the upper floors. This was at 7:15 o'clock, and the employes had not vet arrived.

A general alarm was sounded, but all efforts to save the building were fruitless, and it was leveled. The loss is placed at $300,000.

FORTY WERE KILLED.

Another Battle Between the Mexican Troops and the Maya Indians Near Aguda.

Oaxaca, Mexico, March S .- News has reached here of another hard fight between a force of about 300 Maya Indians and 1,000 government troops. The battle took place near the town of Agnda. Col. Fernando Gonzales, who is a member of President Diaz's personal staff, was in command of the government forces which made the attack on the Indians.

The Mayas were strongly entrenched, but were driven from their position by the terrible fire which was poured in upon them from an advantageous position. Thirty-seven Indians were kitted and a large number wounded. Three soldiers were killed. Over 300 guns, which were thrown away by the Indians in their flight before the government troops, were afterward picked up by the latter.

Gen. Wheeler Permitted to Land.

San Francisco, March S.-Gen. Jo seph Wheeler and party, who have been in quarantine since their arrival from the Philippines on the transport Warren last Monday, were permitted to land. Gen. Gen. Roberts Reports That He Has Completely Routed the Enemy.

British Troops Invade Transvaal Soll-rlying Column Gets in Via Zulmand and Skirmishes With the Boers Daily.

London, March 6.-Mafeking is to be relieved as soon as the British force already on the way to Kimberley ean raise the siege. This force is described raguely as "strong." In view of the fact that the Kimberley light horse is under the control of the DeBeers Co., Lord Roberts' visit to Kimberley probably had to do with an arrangement with Ceeil Rhodes to use this company of troops.

London, March 6.-Winston Churchill, describing the relief of Ladysmith in a dispatch published by the Morning Post, says:

"It has been effected at a cost of ipward of 5,000 officers and men in an army only 25, 00 strong.

He goes on to pay a high tribute to Sir Redvers Buller, emphasizing the confidence his men had in him, "without which the enterprise could hardly have succeeded."

Of Gen. Buller's attack on February 27 Mr. Churchill says: "Considered in itself, it was a masterpiece, soundly conceived, boldly lannehed and skillfully executed." He adds that "Much also was due to the greatly improved intelligence department."

Mr. Churchill points out that the Boers now hold Van Renen's pass, but that a majority of the Free Staters have accompanied the Transvaalers northward.

Gen. Buller reports Natal now practically clear of the enemy, and that he can not hear of any formed body of them anywhere. The Boers left some ambulances full of their sick from which the mules had been taken for transport service.

Osfontein, March 6.—Gen. Gatacre occupied Stormberg yesterday. The lines of railway north and west will now be repaired. Gen. Clements is at Joubert's siding station beyond Colesberg. The duke of Marlborough, with the Oxford company of the Imperial Teomanry, has left Cape Town for Naanwpoort.

Cape Town. March 7.-Many women who are reported to be good shots are among the Boer prisoners arriving here. The Dutch church has issued a manifesto in favor of the Boer republies retaining complete independence. Lord Roberts has accepted the honorary coloneley of the City of London volunteers.

London, March 7 .- A special dispatch from Durban says a flying coltractors' council made a declaration umn of British troops from Zululand that no opportunity to arbitrate will has entered the Transvaul and has be afforded by that body, no matter been daily skirmishing with small parwhat pressure may be brought to bear | ties of Boers. London, March 8 .- The war office To California Quickly and Comforthas posted the following advices from Lord Roberts, dated at Poplar Grove, Wednesday evening, March 7:

"We had a very successful day and have completely routed the enemy, who are in full retreat.

"The position which they occupy is extremely strong and cunningly arranged with a second line of entrenehments, which would have caused us heavy loss had a direct attack been made. The turning movement was necessarily wide, owing to the nature of the ground, and the cavalry and artillery horses are much done up.

"The fighting was practically confined to the eavalry division, which, as usual, did exceedingly well, and Gen. French reports that the horse artillery batteries did great execution among the enemy.

"Our casualties were about 50. I regret to say that Lieut. Keswick was killed and Lieut. Bailey was severely wounded, both of the 12th laneiers. Lieut. De Crespigny, of the 2d life guards, was severely wounded. The remaining easualties will be telegraphed to-morrow.

The correspondents differ as to the enemy's strength. The Daily Mail's representative thinks the Boers number something more than 4,000. The Daily News man estimates them at 10,000. As these figures come from observers at headquarters, it is clear that Lord Roberts' force was overwhelmingly superior. He can scarcely have fewer than 45,000 immediately available, as the guards brigade reached him from Lord Methnen Tuesday. volunteers and the local forces at Kimberley, some of whom have gone toward Mafeking.

London, March s .- A dispatch to the Times from Osfontein, dated Tuesday, March 6, says: "A commando of 3,000 hoers has offered to surrender, but on impossible terms. Gen. Imperial spectacles and eyeglasses have perfect leuses, always perfectly centred and made of purest material, set in frames of the highest elasticity and consequently of greatest durability, united with the utmost lightness and elegance. When both frames and lenser are scientifically fitted by Dr C. H. Bowen's system they always give satisfaction for they are perfect. Never buy cheap spectacles, nor of men who do not know how to fit them You will get poorly adjusted spectacles, or poor. Imperfect lenses, and are better off without any glasses than with either of these defects. Buy imperial spectacles of a reliable, skills dealer, and they will last longer without change and be cheapest in the end.

We have engaged the services of Dr. C. H. Bowen who will visit our store on the second and last Thursdays of each month and invite all to call and have their eyes examined, for which there is no charge. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

Billy was willing as Barkis, but the faculty said it would put a premium on laxity to make Billy a 'varsity captain, even though the present incumbents were ready, any of them, to resign in his favor. "Prex" said no in no uncertain terms; the challenge was declined, whereat the rival institute crowed lustily and the thing got into the papers. As a result a select company of student volunteers was formed; its members agreed to drill an hour daily in addition to the prescribed work, provided Billy would "take hold" in earnest, and this was the company that, under his command, swept the boards six weeks later and left San Pedro's contingent an amazed and disgusted crowd. Then Dilly went to metaphorical pieces again until the war clouds overspread the land; then like his father's son he girded up his loins, went in for a commission and won. And here he was a "sub" in Uncle Sam's stalwart infantry with three classmates serving under him in the ranks and half a dozen more, either as junior officers or enlisted men, in the camps of the volunteers. He was a handsome boy, a healthy, hearty boy, and, as boys go, rather a good boy-a boy in whom his mother would have found, had she not long since been lifted above the careof this world, much of comfort and more to condone, but a boy, nevertheless, who had given his old dragoon of a dad many an anxious hour. Now, just as he neared the legal dividing line between youth and years of discretion. Billy Gray had joined the third bettalion of his regiment, full of pluck hope and health, full of ambition to make a name for himself in a profession he loved at exempth his father, he certainly loved nothing else, and utterly scoffing the idea that there might come into his life a being for the sake of whose smile he could almost lay down his sword, for he had yet to meet Amy Lawrence.

"Who are the women folks up at headquarters, Billy:" asked a you b of his own years and rank, peering eagerly through the drifting mist at the dim, ghostly outlines of the general's camp

"Didn't get to see 'em. Where's the old man-the colonel?" was the reply. "Chief wants him toot de sweet!

"What's wanted?" called a voice from the biggest of the neighboring tents. and a close-cropped head was thrust out between the front tent flaps. "That you, Billy? Who wants the colonel? He and the "brig" rode over to the Presidio an hour ago-ain't got back. Come in; I've started a fire in our oil stove." A puff of warm air blew from the interior and confirmed the statement. It was well along in summer, and not a dozen miles away to the east men were strolling about with palm-leaf fans and wilted collars. Here, close to the gray shores of the mighty sea, blankets and | those fellows at headquarters unload overcoats were in demand. "What's wanted?"

By this time the youngster had ranged up alongside the adjutant and was laughingly enjoying the latest arrival's tirade at the expense of the headquarters' staff, but at his closing words Lieut. Billy's grin of amusement sudden left his face, giving way to a lock

"I know 'em! I haven't been east of the Rig Muddy since I was a kid."

"They asked for you, just the same, just after you started. 'Least one of 'em did-for What's-his-name?-the chief military legal adviser, came out bareheaded and called after you, but you were out of hearing. He said the cousin, the prettiest one, recognized you as you skipped away from the general's tent, and pointed you out to her friend. Somebody explained you were running an errand for one of those aids too lazy to go himself, and that you'd be back

"Then go at once, young man," said the adjutant, laying a mighty hand on the junior's square shoulder. "Stand not upon the order of your going, but git! Never you mind about the colonel. lie wou't be here until after he's been morning's inspection. Just look at the report, Sergeant major send me Col. And, tor's erifleisms of the appearance of the regiment, the officer addressed as Parsen shoved briskly into the tent.

The young soldier who had opened the tent flap a few minutes before came forward with a folded paper which. in silence, he handed the adjutant and took the paper, but his eyes followed the soldier. Then he called, somewhat

"The adjutant general's compliments, sir, and he'd be glad if the lientenant would come over at once."

Gray took the eards, curiously studied them and then read aloud, one after the other, and placing the topmost underneath the other two as soon as read. "MR. LISPENARD PRIME."

"MISS PRIME."
"MISS AMY LAWRENCE." It was the last name that lay uppermost at the end and the Parson noted it.

"That's the pretty consin. Billy." quoth he. "Case of the last shall be runaway. Oid gent, pretty daughter, first, don't you see? Scoot now, you lucky boy, and tell us all about it later. But Gray was still gazing dreamily at the eards.

"I'm sure I never met any of them before in my life," said he. "There must be some mistake. Yet-that name sounds familiar-somehow." and "that" was the, only name now in sight. "I'm off," he suddenly announced, and vanished.

There was a sound of light, quick footsteps on the flooring of the rear ward tent at the same time. The sergeant major glanced up from his writing: looked at a vacant desk, then at the clock, then, inquiringly, at his regi mental deity-the adjutant. It was just the hour of the day at which all manner of papers were coming down from division and brigade headquarters to be duly stamped, noted and stacked up for the colonel's action This was the young elerk Morton's especial function, but Morton had left the office and was gone. WICKED-LOOKING WEAPON.

Description of the Mauser Pistol That Is to Be Used by United States Cavalrymen.

"The new Manser pistol, with which our eavalry is about to be armed, is a l.orrible looking piece of machinery. said an esthetic sportsman theother day. "It doesn't resemble a firearm at all. but looks like some strange scientific instrument, such as one might see in a laboratory. Imagine a cigar box. japanned black, with a handle at one end and a short tube at the other, and there you have it. The box contains the mechanism and the tube spouts bullets. The cavalryman of the past was a dashing figure. He wore a steel euirass and a helmet with nodding plumes, and while he carried a brace of pistols in his holsters, his real weapon was his trusty saber. Do you rementber the splendid fellows who are galloging past Napoleon in Meissonier's '1807? Since then seience has gradually sucked all the poetry out of war and the Mauser pistol is the last work of brutal utilitarianism. The cavalryman of the future will earry nothing but a small black walnut box, and will closely resemble a surgeon going out to operate for appendicitis. When he gets to the right spot, designated by the engineer corps, he will dismount, open the box, take out his hideous Mauser machine, hook the case to one end, so as to form a shoulder rest, spray a few quarts of projectiles in a given direction and go home again to rest after the fatigue of the fray. If the calculations of the range finder are all right his bullets perforate somebody a mile away. That will be war a la mode. In some respects it is a great improvement on the old style, but it will inspire no poets. Imagine Tennyson writing the 'Charge of the Light Brigade' about a cavalry regiment armed with Mauser automatics."-Chicago Chronicle.

THE BRUTE KEPT HIS SEAT.

Indignant Recital of Her Woes by an Incensed Woman on a Carette.

"The consistency of man," said a woman, bracing one small foot against the opposite seat of the carette and jabting her hat pin in securely, "is not startlingly self-evident."

The two ladies put their nickels in the two little railroads, bet chooclates on which would reach the box first, ate their bets and the philosopher resumed:

"He cursed loudly and picturesquely at the theater bat with its pyramida! trimmings, and the theater hat became in consequence extinct. He still, however, with the sublime nonchalance of his species, continues to walk all over woman's feet and crush her gown and upset her equanimity by his regular entr'-act excursions out to 'see a man, because he knows she will have to look amiable or her escort will think she has an impossible disposition."

She looked aggrieved and her companion handed her the chocolate hox sympathetically.

She lighed and mournfully selected an almond bonton.

'And vesterday on the Alley 'L' I was just tired to death and I let my umbrella handle punch through his old on his hat. Of course I apologized sweetly and looked so distressed. But he only turned to the sporting page and never stirred in his seat. So I stood all over his feet and pretended the crowd pushed me from behind, and I to t bore down as hard as I could. But he never paid a bit of attention. You know I weigh so little-oh, it's a fact. Only 87. No. I know you would never believe it. Aren't they natural? Such a nice curve from the waist line. Yes, wire and horse hair. Only three-fifty. covered with silk. And I sighed quite loudly several times and lost my balance when the train would stop. And would you believe that miserable man never made any more sign than a on traight?"

She looked at herself in the little mirror hanging to her chatelaine and wiped some soot from her pretty nose.

"So I waited till the train stopped at the next station, and that blessed motorman nearly telescoped us all. It rave me a good chance, so I gasped in a frightened way and fell over and I nocked off his gla ses with my elbow. Of course I pretended to be awfully sorry. And the miserable things never even broke. And, my dear, he actually jicked them up, calmly put them or and turned to the tock quotations."

The degravity of man was too muel for speech for several blocks. The carette rumbled mournfully on. The

POSTED ON FINANCE.

At Least That Was the Impression She Gave Her Sister Club Members.

"It is simply impossible to keep posted on everything," said a club woman to a Daughter of the American Revolution.
"Yes, judeed, it is," admitted the D. A. R.
"But sometimes, if you are not quite posted, you can wriggle out of a difficult situation without seeming so very property. without seeming so very ignorant. For example, I was just saved by my presence of mind at a D. A. R. meeting the other day. Prof. Sparks, of the university, you know, read a lovely paper on 'Governeus Morris, Financier of the American Revolution.'
"'Who is this Governeur Morris?' said a friend of mine from the Fortnightly club.

"Seems to me I never heard of him."
"There were half a dozen women around, and I was frightfully embarrassed. I never had heard of Governent Morris, either, but, you know, a D. A. R. is supposed to know all those things.

Could Change His Mind.

Prof. Hendershott is well known in Pittsburgh as a mon of affable temper, and it is rare that he shows even impatience. One day while traveling on a suburban trolley ear to call on a friend, he asked the conductor to transfer him to the city street ears at a certain point. Soon afterward the ear stopped and he was surprised to see cutside the very friend he was seeking. He started to leave the car, when the conductor accosted him. "You car't change for your car here," he said, brusquely. The professor passed him, taking no notice. "Can't change cars here, I tell you," snapped the conductor again. The professor, deep in conversation with his friend, merely waved his hand-to signify that the car might go on without him. "Here," cried the man in brass bottons, angrily, "don't I tell you that you can't change cars at this place?" Then the good old professor answered with severity: "But I can change my mind at this station, can't I?"—Golden Days.

BILL SCROGGINS DID IT AND THEN DISAPPEARED.

The Singular History of a Peculiar Character Who Located Wells For Missouri Farmers and Juggled With Trained Snakes.

Rov. Bill Scroggins was a character in a border county of Missouri in 1844. How he acquired the ecclesiastical prefix and what he did under the title were stor.c. which used to be told in the farmhouses of what is now known

They said he had been a snake charmer wien he was a young man, that he traveled about the country as a sort of magician and that he showed farmers with his divining rod where to dig weils.

The people of what was then a frontier country assembled once a year in their respective communities and heid camp meetings. On one of these religious occasions Bili foilowed the crowd with his lag of reptiles. The minister, an old man whose face was like that of a patriarch, soid the story in a sermon of Moses lifting up the brazen serpent in the camp of Israel unier the command of Johovah. The Missouri farmer who used to entertain travelers with the recital said that the congregation was not particularly moved by the appeal, but after its delivery Bill Scroggins got up and announced that he had a bag of real, crawling, hissing reptiles which he would exhibit after dinner ju t outside the camp ground, and he claimed that he would show the people some snake tricks which would beat the Musa e story they had just heard.

In spite of the protest of the minister the people turned out to the live snake show, and Bill gave them an exhibition which was a great success. it is said. or it used to be said, that there wasn't a snake trick which Bill Scroggius' serpents d. In't do. When the exhibition was over. Bill told the people that he was a sort of missionary himself in correction with his business of locating wells and that he would cail on each member in the evening and advise with them as to their spiritual and worldiy wants.

When he cailed, his first question was, "Have you got a well?" If the reply was in the negative, and wells were scarce. Bill informed the member that he must have one located, and then he opened his bag of snakes and as they began crawling Bill lifted up his voice and called the people to reper ance. He told them the snakes would do no harm if they (the people) would give him the job of locating

It was a tax on human belief, but the Missourian who told the story vouched for the truth of his assertion that the people gave Bill more orders than he could fill in one season and He was the first heretic in the west, alth ugh the word was unknown in that country then. Crippled by Rheumatism.

Those who have Rheumatism find all the pleasure of complaining about themselves growing steadily worse all the while. One reason of this is that Press. the remedies prescribed by the doctors contain mercury and potash, which ultimately intensify the disease by causing the joints to swell and stiffen, producing a severe aching of the bones. S. S. has been curing Rheumatism for twenty years—even the worst cases which seemed almost incurable.

Capt. O. E. Hughes, the pcpular railroad conductor, of Columbia, S. C., had an experience with Rheumatism which convinced him that there is only one cure for that painful disease. He says: "I was a great sufferer from muscular Rheumatism for two years. I could get no per manent relief from any medicine prescribed by my physician. I took about a dozen bottles of your S. S. S., and now I am as well as I ever was inmy life. I am sure that your medicine sure that your medicine cured me, and I would recommend it to any one suffering from any blood disease."

Everybody knows that Rheumatism is a diseased state of the blood, and only a blood remedy is the only proper treatment, but a remedy containing potash and mercury only aggravates being Purely Vegetable, goes direct to the very cause of the disease and a permanent cure always results. It is the only blood remedy guaranteed to contain no potash, mercury or other dangerous minerals.
